Lion's reach agreement with town

By Janice Harrington

A tentative agreement over the start up and operation of a recycling project in the town of Didsbury has been reached between the Didsbury Lion's Club and town council.

Lion's Recycling Project Coordinator Russ Croft said final approval of the agreement between both parties is the final step to starting up a recycling depot for paper, plastic and glass in town.

"When we first met with council, I had typed up an agreement and after the meeting there were just a few clarifications they wanted," Croft said. "We have made those and the town has basically agreed to sign. Now the Lion's just need to ratify."

The agreement, which has the town and the Didsbury Lion's working together, outlines the responsibilities of each party in the creation and operation of the project. Town Councillor Neville Marshall said the agreement also outlines numbers.

"Basically the agreement says they are pretty much going to be in charge," Marshall said. "It also says that we will pay them $12 per metric tonne [diversionary credit] for what they recycle."

Marshall the diversionary credit is based on 75 percent of the cost of dumping each metric tonne at the Didsbury landfill site. Taking each tonne of recyclable material out of the landfill site saves the town money.

Also under the agreement, Marshall said, the town will make application for grant to build a depot for storage and sorting of the recycled material.

"We have to wait to hear about the funding, but we would like to start now so we have some tentative places in town now under negotiation," he said.

Other details of the agreement have the town covering all major expenses for the start up of the operation (majority of funding will be sought from provincial and federal sources available for waste management projects) and the basic administrative costs. The Lion's will handle all operations, auditing, trucking costs and will see to the redistribution of profits from the project to town groups.

Both Croft and Marshall said their two groups are anxious to get the project underway as quickly as possible. Croft said they plan to start off by emptying the town's paper trailer so more paper can be collected. They will also contrive means to collect Class 2 plastic currently used for plastic milk jugs and non-deposit, food quality glass.

Croft said the Lion's will vote on ratification," he said. "Now that we have that we will vote on the whole project and the agreement. The town has also given us every indication that they will sign."

Canada Day celebrations

Didsbury celebrated Canada's 125th birthday with a bang last Wednesday with the Downhome Didsbury celebration. Events had been planned for outdoors but had to be moved inside because of the weather. For more pictures of the Canada Day party, see page 6.

Movies gain national attention

By Janice Harrington

Didsbury has again grabbed the attention of the media, this time in a positive light, for its unique approach to summer entertainment.

Television, radio and newspapers from around the country have been calling on BOP organizers over the past few weeks after an initial story on elevator movies hit the front page of The Calgary Herald.

Build Our Pool Society

President Lance Plewis said he has been surprised by the amount of exposure BOP's fundraising scheme has received.

"This has been on Windsor radio, the Globe and Mail, The Vancouver Sun just to name a few, Plewis said. "It's almost got a life of its own now."

Three to four hundred people showed up from around the province and from B.C. to watch the showing of Star Wars

Dorothy Hosegood and I were sitting together at a public gathering. Dorothy is, in my estimation, one of the truly "Grande Dames." She is also an ardent Canadian and a true patriot. Our pianist struck the opening chord of O Canada and the assemblage struggled to its feet. It was not an inspiring rendition of our national anthem. The beat was a pinch slower than it should have been, most of the singers contributed body heat only and several of the ones who were making an effort stumbled over the new words so that section was even blurrier than the whole. All and all it was not so much a hymn of praise as a long, drawn collective sigh. The final note died away and we sat. Dorothy turned to me, "sung like true separatists," she observed. And I had to agree.

Canada became a nation on July 1, 1867. It was Confederation Day then and since that time it has been called Dominion Day, First of July, July First, and now Canada Day. It became Canada Day in order to downplay our colonial history and the first Canada Day was celebrated in 1970 at a Port Coburne Ont. high school. One of the teachers organized the event and from there it spread until, in 1982 (only 10 years ago), our federal government declared it Canada Day. And so it remains, for the time being at least. Who knows what future generations may choose to call it. It is typical of Canadians that we regard our history and our culture with such timidity and modesty that we keep trying to improve it or fix it somehow. Can you imagine the Americans changing their national anthem the way we did ours? Not a chance. And as their anthem is almost impossible to sing it isn't as if it wouldn't benefit from some change.

The Canadian Encyclopaedia says that Confederation, Dominion, July First, Canada Day, etc. was originally celebrated in rather quiet and typical Canadian fashion but now it is filled with more elaborate cultural and entertainment festivities sponsored and encouraged by the federal government.

I guess so. This year in Ottawa there were massed bands and choirs, a visit from the Queen, a 125 gun salute, flypasts, parades, speeches, a showcase of Canadian talent and enormous fireworks.

I wish I knew how the day was celebrated in 1868. Did Sir John A. and his wife and kids go on a picnic? Nobody seems to know. I wonder how the day was celebrated in 1885? That was the year of the Riel Rebellion and one would think that our forefathers were too busy and too worried to organize much in the way of a party. I wonder if many people even thought of Confederation in those days. I wonder how many even knew of its existence? Do you suppose the Chinese building the railroad stopped for fireworks on July first? Did the Scandinavian settler celebrate in his shack or the trappers and fishermen, the buffalo hunters and surveyors? How about the Barr colonists slogging their way through slough and forest or the American cattlemen bringing herds up into the tall grass of southern Alberta or even the Canadian born settlers coming out from the east to file on homesteads. I doubt if any of them celebrated Confederation Day. I don't think it would even have occurred to them.

When I was a kid we had the school picnic somewhere near the first of July, but I don't think we did this in honor of Confederation. It was more a celebration of having survived another school year and because it gave the neighborhood a chance to show off the new babies and catch up on gossip.

And then came the Centennial and the realization that we had something to celebrate, something to be proud of, something to sing about.

This is a country to be celebrated. This is a beautiful, spectacular, clean, free, fantastically wonderful country and we should revel in it. We should celebrate it every day and do everything we can to preserve and protect it. If there is something you don't like, make an effort to change it but don't forget to celebrate the things you do like. Tell your kids that they are proud Canadians. No one should drive through this country at this time of year without feeling a surge of joy. It is so green, so pure, so near to heaven.

Let's keep it that way. Instead of throwing junk on the road, pick some up. Plant a tree, pull a thistle, recycle, vote, read Canadian history, welcome a new Canadian, visit another province. Build something up instead of tearing it down. Celebrate Canada.

And for Goodness sake, the next time you are required to sing O Canada put some heart in it.

Annual light horse show planned

Plans for the annual show of the Didsbury and District Light Horse Association are complete and in place for the weekend of July 10th and 11th.

Show secretary Lily Mae Dais said nearly 180 entries to the show, which will run at the Didsbury Memorial Arena, are expected.

"So far we have 150 horses registered," Dais said. "And we expect more by the time the competition starts. There are more riders than that just because more than one rider can use the same horse for different classes."

This year's show, being the 30th annual event, will feature a special opening ceremony with the Al Azhar Temple Shriners Mounted Patrol performing a parade precision ride.

The D.D.L.H.A.'s first president, Fred Rodway, will also be on hand for the opening. Rodway along with fellow horse lovers Gordon Ford, Albert Krebs, Elmer Israelson, Don Irwin and Jack Johnston made up the Association's first board of directors when it was formed in 1962. The first show was held in July 1963.

Dais said Friday night competition for this year's show will highlight junior talent while Saturday will be the day for senior classes. Awards will be handed out at the end of each class competition.

Cost to enter the Association's show is $5 for juniors and halter class and $8 for seniors.

Didsbury Library news

If art is your game, come to the library to view our newest gallery of artists. The collection is titled Stories and includes artists Stefan Czernecki, K. Gwen Frank and Kathy Leson and will be shown from now until July 24th.

The Muttart Gallery sponsors the exhibit which travels throughout the province. They have this to say about the collection, "Stories have been told in picture, orally and through the written word. Historically artists have used the narrative potential of images to explore and portray people, places, events and things real and fictional. This exhibition of works, by three Calgary artists, titled Stories, exhibits a variety of narrative image making techniques.

Author/illustrator Stefan Czernecki tells his tales with books; visual artist K. Gwen Frank makes prints and drawings; and artist/writer/filmmaker Kathy Leson, tells her story through sound and animation."

The Didsbury Library Summer Clubs are all kicking off this week. Library staff and Club members would like to thank all the terrific business owners who are donating prizes throughout the summer. Our hats are off to: Didsbury Drugs, Town of Didsbury FCSS, Contemporary Graphics, Mountain View Bakery, K & W Drive-In, and Video Break.

If you would like to book our Reader's Theatre troupe for a performance for your group, please call Sandy at the library at 335-3142. The performances are free and fun!

Award winning smiles

Students of the Didsbury High School were honored last week at their annual awards ceremony. Awards and scholarships were handed out to students in Grades 9 through 12. Subject certificates, honor roll awards and medallions were also awarded.

New vaccine offered

Alberta Health has made a new Haemophilus influenza vaccine (Hib) available for infants and children as part of the routine childhood immunization program.

Mount View Health Unit is now offering the vaccine as part of the immunization series at 2 months, 4 months, 6 months and 18 months of age. Previously Hib vaccine was available only to children 18 months and older.

This vaccine will protect children against the most common form of bacterial meningitis and serious infections caused by the Hib bacteria (such as ear infections, sinusitis, pneumonia and other invasive infections.)

Prior to the introduction of Hib vaccine in 1987 it was estimated that one in two hundred children developed invasive Hib infection by age 5. Alberta reported 140 - 150 severe cases annually of which 120 - 140 were meningitis and epiglottitis, the most lethal forms of Hib disease. Up to 7 deaths were reported annually and about 25-40 children a year were left with permanent disabilities. With the introduction of the vaccine at 18 months of age, the incidence of Hib disease dropped markedly.

The addition of Hib vaccine to the routine childhood program is exciting. With the use of this vaccine in infants lives will be saved, severe handicap prevented, and this serious childhood disease virtually eliminated within the next few years.

Parents can call their local Mount View Health Unit office to book appointments for children

7-18 months who do not have regularly scheduled immunization visits planned.

Hib Schedule

Age at First Immunization (months): 2-6; No. of Doses (at least 2 months apart) 3; Booster - Yes - 18 months.

Age at First Immunization 7-11 months; No. of Doses - 2 months apart; Booster - Yes - 18 months.

Age at First Immunization 12-14 months; No. of Doses - 1; Booster - Yes - 18 months.

Age at First Immunization 15-59 months; No. of Doses - 1 month apart; No Booster.

and The Empire Strikes Back on June 30, raising nearly $1,000 towards the construction of a water slide and hot tub for the new indoor swimming facility. But the crowds are less interested in the fundraising than they are in the uniqueness of showing movies on the side of a grain elevator.

"I was really surprised by the turn out," Plewis said. "But I guess it is really different. Like the guy I was talking to on the radio [talk show interview] said, there just aren't drive-ins around anymore and no one else does this."

The idea of showing movies on the side of the elevator came up last year while BOP members were brainstorming for methods to raise money. Plewis said it took nearly a year to get all the details worked out before the shows could start.

It's not as easy as it looks," he said. "You have to get the right projector and the right lens and then the radio guys told us we couldn't get the signal over the radio, then we found out we could. So it has been a year of experimenting and the changes are still going to happen. We plan to do it differently next time and use a better lens so the picture is bigger and clearer."

Despite the help the exposure is giving BOP for their fundraising efforts (4 television stations were on hand for the Tuesday night showing), Plewis said BOP members also feel they are getting something more.

"There seems to be something else we are getting out of it," he said. "Raising money has become secondary. We're just out to have fun and it's helping to raise community spirit and that is part of what we wanted to do, we wanted to get the community spirit back in to the town."

Plewis said BOP definitely plans to hold other elevator movie nights over the summer, but said the group plans to take a rest over the next little while.

"We need to take a bit of a break. It's a lot of work to put it all together."

Attention grabber

Didsbury's own version of the old fashion drive-in has been getting a lot of attention from the national media. The attention helped attract around 300 people to the last showing on June 30 and to help BOP raise close to $1,000.

RCMP report

Those long awaited days of summer are finally upon us. Along with summer come those days spent camping and boating. For those individuals taking a boat to their favorite fishing or camping spot, there are a few rules which must be adhered to. If you like to waterski, remember that you must always have an observer in the tow boat and that you can't tow after sunset. Boats, just like any other vehicle, are subject to the same laws in regards to the operation of that vehicle. You can be charged with a hit and run involving a boat as well as dangerous operation or impaired operation of a boat. These are all criminal code offences and will be dealt with accordingly.

Although there were no individuals charged with impaired operation of a boat between June 10, 1992, and June 23, 1992, two people were charged with impaired operation of a motor vehicle. Didsbury RCMP responded to a total of 188 complaints during this two week period, 35 of which were criminal code offences. There were 11 motor vehicle accidents and 6 liquor control act offences. Forty-five traffic tickets were issued, 11 of which were written warnings.

End of school

Students at Ross Ford Elementary had a ball the last day of classes last month with a penny fair. The students played games and generally horsed around in the sunshine, paying a penny for each activity. Face painting was also part of the fun.

Mountain View La Leche League news

Breastfeeding mothers and mothers-to-be are invited to attend the next meeting of the Mtn. View La Leche League, scheduled for July 9, 1992 at 10:30 a.m. at 20th Ave. and 20th Street, Didsbury (ECS Portable).

The La Leche League will answer any questions and help nursing mothers solve any problems they may have concerning breastfeeding. For example, the League assures mothers that nursing babies are getting enough milk if they are active and alert, nursing every 2 to 3 hours, putting on weight, and if they have 6 to 8 wet diapers per day.

Another service of the League is a lending library of books on childbirth, breastfeeding and child care.

Stamping out loss

By Janice Harrington

As I was going through the tonne of mail which crosses my desk daily the other morning, I came across a press release recently issued from Canada Post which talked about its 1991-92 annual report. Now I have always found the issue of Canada Post privatization quite interesting so I settled in to read it.

The press release started off with the good news, so I knew right away the bottom line was not good. It said Canada Post expected a profit for 1992-93. The bad news was last year they suffered a loss of $128 million.

Now considering the size and scope of Canada Post, I guess $128 million is not a bad number, especially in light of how much they have to pay their over-unionized employees who constantly strike and the public relations campaigns they must wage over the privatization issue, but I lost any kind of sympathy for their efforts as soon as I picked up the actual annual report.

For a company which says it is desperately trying to cut costs and to keep the price of stamps down, they sure didn't bother to cut any corners in the production of this publication. Not only is it glossy, chock full of unnecessary pictures and coffee-table quality, they went even further with embossing and lacquering on thick bond pages which aren't even recyclable.

I used to support Canada Post every time its employees staged their yearly strikes (and I probably still will consider my stand on equitable pay scales) but I am really going to be choked when they crank up the price of the stamp another penny, complaining about high service costs. I think I'll just have to cut up small squares of this picture post card of an annual report and stick that to my envelopes.

It's probably worth more.

This whole elevator movie idea has really taken off. Last week's version attracted a whole pile of people from all over the province (and some reports swear to seeing B.C. plates on some of the cars too). You have to admit, it's a great idea, something really unique that has managed to put Didsbury in the spotlight for a few moments. And it made BOP a bunch of money. You can't go wrong with that.

Now it is up to the tourism people to keep the momentum going. Other rural towns are managing to pull people in from the urban areas with unique summer time activities, so why not Didsbury? The idea is to promote, promote, promote. People obviously think this is unique (judging from the national media response) so all that's necessary is to keep people informed.

And I also think BOP should be congratulated, despite your feelings on the pool issue, for bring such positive publicity to Didsbury.

It's about time everyone else knew what a great town this is.

Economics force social structure

Dear Editor:

"April 6, 1992, 2:20 p.m. I watched money [the lack of] override justice."

What you just read is an excerpt from a notebook I had in my pocket the day it happened. I was sitting in a doctor's office, waiting (of course) when this guy about my age came out of another door. He looked nice, I figured he was one of those middle-class family people, mom and dad that both work, brothers and sisters, maybe a dog and a cat and a white picket fence. But then—the two security guard guys who had been sitting beside me leaped up and slammed the handcuffs on his wrists.

Now, a lot of people might have said, "What a con artist, he's just trying to look nice and normal so that he can get out of juvenile jail soon." They would have told me that I'd just been fooled by him, and that "people like him" belonged locked up. I don't believe that's true.

I believe that people who say that have lost their compassion.

I know, I know, I've heard it all before—what if that person did something terrible like murdered someone. I don't think so. Not this one. (Actually, this person may have been caught stealing, vandalizing, and that's about all.)

There are people who run away from home and get brought back by the police. So they run away again, and again, and wind up in Juvenile Hall. For running away from home. Doesn't that make you wonder what was so terrible about home in the first place, for them to keep running away? I mean, is it really possible that anybody is stupid enough to run away from a good home situation?

The important questions are: Why did the person vandalize? (Is it because their parent/guardian does? Because they don't have anything of their own and feel jealous? Because they want to get back at their parents for beating them up/deserting them?)

Is the person truly a mean person who would actually enjoy stealing? (Or do they steal for money because they're addicted to something and are trying to get un-addicted? Do they need the food/money to live? Do they have a place to live?)

Do you have any right to judge this person if you barely know anything about them? (How can you say that someone hasn't been abused/hurt badly/deserted if you don't even know them? And, do you think, they're going to tell a total stranger that they have been hurt? No, I don't believe that's likely. People don't like to admit they're vulnerable, especially if they've been hurt once. They don't want to tell you, and then get hurt again.)

If you can't see the human side of a person, then I don't believe that you have any right to judge them based on what you know—which may be next to nothing.

I'd like to ask people to take a second look at the way they tell if a person is 'bad' or not. Maybe they'll learn something about other people.

Sincerely,
Yvonne Dick,
Didsbury

Pool battle continues

Dear Editor:

I found Mrs. Windsor's letter in reply to mine (Review, June 23 and June 16) amusing in an ironic sort of way because it so thoroughly confirms what I had written about current attitudes and expectations. However, her criticism of my words, taken out of context, was unfair and I hope that the people who read her letter will have read mine also, for it contains qualifying statements and speaks from experience which, unfortunately, young people do not have.

On June 23 editorial, also written by a pool supporter, thoughtlessly adds insult to injury in referring to those who opposed the pool as spoil sports and spoiled kids. It was no game they were playing and, come to think of it, who are the spoiled kids? Aren't they always the ones who get what they want at someone else's expense?

Both Mrs. Windsor and the editor extol the rule of democracy since it is presently working in their favor. However, the Canadian brand of democracy has always worked against those with no voting power and, taken over all, is a tremendously serious matter. That's how the east has succeeded in robbing Alberta (net take of over $150 billion during the last 30 years) and that is why we want a Triple E senate. Democracy, if not used in a responsible way and with adequate checks and balances, becomes a tool of robbery whereby the prudent are forced to pay not only for the necessities of society but for the luxuries as well, plus for numerous other things that should never lay claim to the public purse. No careful person would mortgage his home to buy nonessentials, yet that in effect is what people are being

GOVERNMENT NEWS

Report from the Legislature

Hon. Roy Brassard, MLA
Olds-Didsbury Constituency

In July, Alberta's Minister of Agriculture, the Honourable Ernie Isley, will be meeting with other Agriculture Ministers from across Canada to discuss changes to the Crow Benefit. A number of options for the method of payment of the Crow Benefit will be discussed. I would like to take this opportunity to update you on recent developments in the grain transportation picture, and fill you in as completely as possible on the immediate future of these discussions.

The current method of payment involves the federal government paying the railways approximately $720 million per year into perpetuity. It has had the effect of artificially distorting domestic grain prices and making value-added processing and diversification in Alberta an expensive proposition. The current method of payment has also served to make the agriculture

PRIVILEGE BRINGS RESPONSIBILITY

Yes! We do have a beautiful and a diverse country. Yes! We do have a society that is tolerant and just. As we stop and appreciate all we have, we must acknowledge that with privilege comes responsibility. It has been suggested that we should place a Charter of Social Obligation along with the Charter of Rights in our new Constitution.

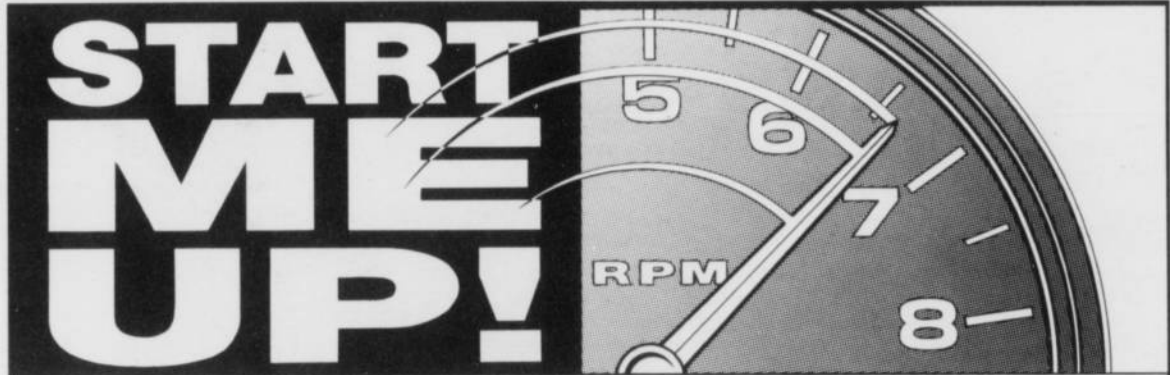

What do you think of this idea?

If we take the Right to Education—we have the obligation to see that: 1.) We recognize our responsibility to accept education as a life-long challenge for ourselves and 2.) to protect the rights of all Canadians to equal educational opportunity.

If we look at the Right to Health Care—we have the responsibility to take good care of our bodies, protect our own mental health and protect the rights of all Canadians to equal access to health care.

If we have right to meaningful work with a reasonable economic reward for that work—then we have the obligation to do that work to the very best of our ability.

With every right it is important that we acknowledge a corresponding responsibility. A responsibility that we accept with pride for ourselves, with compassion for those who are not as powerful as we are and with strength for our children and our grandchildren.

Downhome Didsbury celebrated

Residents of Didsbury celebrated Canada's 125th birthday last week with the Downhome Didsbury celebration. Events included local entertainers, a model plane flying demonstration, nail pounding contests, dance troupe shows, and, of course, the singing of our national anthem. Some residents really got into the spirit of the occasion by wearing the flag.

Abandoned and orphaned wildlife report

By Alberta Fish & Wildlife, Olds

Every year, especially in the spring, numerous young birds and animals are turned over to local District Fish and Wildlife offices, because they are believed to be orphaned and/or abandoned. Although the people picking them up are well intentioned, more harm than good is often done.

Mother Nature uses several different defence mechanisms to protect wild birds and animals. Ungulates (moose, deer, elk, antelope, etc.) hide their young in a patch of grass or shrubs where it is well camouflaged and the mother will then go off and feed or rest, making the fawn appear orphaned. This action leads predators away from the fawn thereby improving survival rates. If you find a fawn like this, don't disturb it, leave the fawn undisturbed and if concerned, check the fawn the next day. Chances are it will be gone, as the mother has returned to pick it up. In the case of moose and elk calves, handling the young calf could prove dangerous as the mothers are very protective. In other instances, young birds, unable to fly, are often found sitting on the ground, seemingly helpless and abandoned, or injured. In all likelihood the young bird has merely tried flying for the first time; floated harmlessly to the ground and can't return to the nest. This young bird is still being cared for by the parents and will continue to be cared for until it is capable of flying and caring for itself. As you can see, some of nature's natural occurrences can work against them, by making them appear abandoned and helpless to the untrained eye.

Accordingly, Alberta Fish and Wildlife strongly advises that the public not pick up wildlife that appears to be orphaned or abandoned. You are most likely interfering with Mother Nature and will do more harm than good. A wild animal or bird, is exactly that, "wild," and should be left in that state. Unless you are certain the bird or animal is orphaned, your intervention may prove harmful and is no substitute for nature's way of providing for wild creatures.

As you may know, the capture and removal of wildlife from the wild is prohibited for several reasons:

1) Wildlife in captivity is unpredictable and can cause serious bodily harm or death to people, often for no apparent reason. Incidents have occurred where wildlife such as deer raised as pets, have become and aggressive in their adult life and serious injuries including fatal ones have resulted.

2) Wild animals and birds have different nutritional requirements than domestic animals and very few people are knowledgeable enough about this to properly feed them and keep them healthy.

3) Captivity causes a great deal of stress on wild animals and birds, which can and will shorten their life expectancy.

In conclusion, because of public safety concerns, concern for the humane treatment of wildlife and a concern to properly manage our wildlife resource for future enjoyment, the capture and removal of wildlife (live birds, animals, eggs, etc.) and subsequent keeping of wildlife in captivity is illegal. Should you encounter an animal or bird that appears abandoned, leave it alone, unless you are positive the parent(s) have been killed. If you wish further information or advice on these matters, please call your local District Fish and Wildlife Office for further information.

Taking to the skies in Olds

Got the itch to fly? The Olds/Didsbury Airport has just the cure.

Since May, Morgan Air out of Calgary has been overseeing a "Learn to Fly" course taught by area residents Gerry Bakken and Don Sanderson.

Chief Pilot, Ian Caldwell, says the interest they've been receiving in obtaining private pilot licenses comes from virtually every walk of life... from farmers, to high school students, to ambulance drivers. "Either you have a fascination with flying, or you don't. It doesn't seem to follow any particular kind of pattern, you just have to feel the desire to want to learn."

To qualify, applicants must be 17 years of age, and have passed Transport Canada's medical exam. 20/20 vision, according to Caldwell, is optional. "It's not as vital as some people think... airlines, sometimes demand different parameters for their pilots, but as long as you can correct your vision, it's acceptable in recreational flying," says Caldwell.

Unlike some flying courses, training at the "Learn to Fly" school is very individualized--a feature Caldwell says is essential in turning out quality pilots. "The thing about flying is that you need to learn a great number of different skills to be able to do the job properly. The physical task of flying an airplane doesn't actually take that long, but it's the added information that goes along with it that sometimes take a bit longer to put together for some students. Like anything else, you have to know the rules of the road," Caldwell explains.

While cost may be a deterrent to some flying fanatics, the Olds/Didsbury airport course reportedly comes in lower than most Calgary flying schools. Caldwell estimates $3,500 for the rural "Learn to Fly" lessons as opposed to roughly $5,000 for comparable lessons in urban settings. "Fuel prices in Calgary are quite a bit higher than what you can get out in your area, and there's no delays with air traffic like there would be at the larger airport in Calgary."

The only potentially limiting feature may be the length of time the lessons are available. So far, the Learn to Fly session is being offered on a three-month stint. "It's sort of on a trial basis, although we'd like to keep offering it all summer if the interest is there."

North Lone Pine W.I. news

By Christine Milne

Hazel Milne was hostess to the June 22 meeting, our last meeting until September. Seven members and one visitor attended. Roll call was "A favorite memory of my father." Only two of our members have fathers living, but we all have happy, heartwarming memories.

Members were pleased with the recent bake sale, where we raised a nice amount to help our dwindling funds. Our customers seemed pleased, too.

Evelyn Clarke reported on the Provincial Conference held at Olds College in early June. The combining of AWI and Women of Uniform worked quite well. Our members who entered handicraft got good marks. We would like to congratulate Helen Weber and Myra Underlay of Lone Pine W.I. They both won prizes for "Outstanding" handicraft.

Christine Milne, for her Citizenship and Education Topic, chose an article from the June, '92 Legion magazine, about an autistic 10-year-old boy who won the 1991-92 Legion literary contest. He was able to express himself very well, using a typewriter. The Legion sent him a FAX list of questions, and his answers (and these questions) are printed in the magazine. His answers partially reveal the frustration all autistic victims must feel, as they try to communicate. "I am not retarded and some people treat me like I am." We hope all autistic people will eventually be able to express themselves, with the help of modern technology.

Contests were won by Evelyn Clarke, Helen Newton and Chris Milne. Our Sept. 21st meeting will be at Judy Jackson's at 7:30. Our roll call - "Something New or Unusual I Grew In My Garden!"

Have a good summer, everyone.

Six charged in Sundre drug sting

By Janice Harrington

Six Sundre residents were arrested last week and charged with trafficking after an intensive drug investigation by the RCMP.

In a press release issued last Monday, Sundre RCMP detachment said the six were arrested after an undercover drug investigation by the Sundre detachment and the Red Deer RCMP general investigative section.

Four counts of trafficking and one count of possession were laid against 28-year-old Gerald William Wilkinson, Gay Patricia Coates, age 38, was charged with

1 count of trafficking and 1 count of possession, 29-year-old Larry Anthony Holst has been charged with 2 counts of trafficking, Dwain George Thompson, age 37, was charged with 1 count of possession, 18-year-old Dan Wilde was charged with 1 count of trafficking and Robert Leslie Paterson, age 21 was charged with 1 count of trafficking.

All offenses relate to the possession of trafficking of the narcotic marijuana.

Five of the six charged were released on their own recognizance and are to appear in Sundre Provincial Court on July 14 to answer to the charges. Gerald Wilkinson was held until the outcome of a bail hearing which was held June 30.

Gathering planned for end of July

Are you ready? It's coming soon! The annual summer happening that provides laughter, great food, wonderful music for family and friends.

The Gathering has the goal of bringing people together. It is a non-profit event organized by a group of committed people. We invite you to come on July 25th and 26th and enjoy being together and having fun; to take pleasure in the great outdoors; and to pause, relax, and worship.

We begin our weekend with a fun-filled rodeo. Local cowboys will entertain us with events such as calf roping, team roping, cutting, and, of course, the crowd-pleasing stock dogs! We invite the audience to participate in events such as mutton bustin' and cow doctoring. There will be no open entry for this rodeo. Hayrides will also be going on throughout the day, giving us the opportunity to enjoy the great outdoors.

While you've been busy with the rodeo events, a full course beef barbecue has been prepared. Save space though, because we have homemade pies for dessert, generously donated by the ladies of our community.

Now--the music! You are encouraged to sit back and enjoy the pleasing sounds of country, gospel, and bluegrass music. Many of the entertainers are local folks--Jimmy Haug, Nitchi Creek, to name a couple. Another highlight will be the cowboy poetry by our own Bryn Thiessen. The entertainment will go on and on.

The Gathering is a very special day so be sure to mark it on your calendar. Bring your lawn chair, a blanket to sit on, enjoy the sunshine, and soak in some terrific sounds in the beautiful surroundings.

The Gathering is being held at the Alta-Bar Ranch, 4 miles south of Sundre and a ¼ mile west. Watch for the signs. On Sunday, there will be a cowboy church service and a beef-on-a-bun luncheon.

Last year approximately 1,300 people came out. We'd love to hit 2,000 this year! So, load up the family, invite all your friends, and come experience "The Gathering."

Lightning kills Cremona area man

By Janice Harrington

A Cremona area man is dead after an intensive lightning storm in the area over the weekend.

Forty-seven-year-old Roger Parsons of the Cremona area was killed instantly Sunday when he was struck by lightning at his home.

Cochrane RCMP who are investigating the incident said the man was working on his lawn at the time of the strike.

"It looks like he was sitting on the riding mower tractor mowing his lawn," said Staff Sergeant Roy Pennoyer of the Cochrane RCMP detachment.

Pennoyer said the accident occurred shortly after 1 p.m. on Sunday afternoon.

Cochrane RCMP are continuing to investigate.

TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

Didsbury Summer Fun notes

The Adventure Begins . . .

Last week the Summer Fun leaders, Andrea Archer, Cameron Campbell, Jenny Hemming, Laurie Snyder, and Recreation Coordinator Dwayne Van Bavel warmed up for this summer's activities on Canada Day. Hundreds of children had their faces painted with everything from maple leaves to rainbows. There were balloons for everyone and the first lucky 70 children received Canada Flag necklaces. The Summer Fun program for 3-12 year olds starts this week with the theme, Destination - North Pole. This year's Summer Fun wants to warm up the summer with different and interesting activities and what better way to do so than start the summer with winter-type activities. All 6-12 year olds are welcome to sign up for a special event trip to the Cochrane Ranch on July 15. The fee is only $10.00 and includes the bus fare there and back and an activity called Camouflage Capers. They will also be stopping for ice cream before they come home. Please register at the Town Office for Summer Fun (weekly and daily rates) or for the Cochrane Ranch trip. For more information, please call 335-8377.

Still Room On Bus For Swim Lessons To Innisfail

The Didsbury Recreation Department is offering a bus-in swim lesson program to Innisfail between August 4-14. The lessons will run Monday through Friday from 4 - 5 p.m. The registration fee is $17.00 or $20.00, depending on the lesson level plus $18.00 bus service fee. The bus will depart from the Didsbury Memorial Complex at 3:15 p.m. sharp. It is important that you sign your child up immediately so that a decision whether or not there is enough people interested can be determined. Please register at the Town Office or if you need more information, call 335-8377.

Please Note: Any children

3-12 years old interested in going to Innisfail for public swimming can go with Summer Fun on July 20. Give us a call at 335-8377 or register at the Town Office.

Midget provincials scheduled at Westcott

Westcott Diamond will be the scene of the Midget C Fastball provincial tournament on Saturday, July 11th with finals taking place Sunday, July 12th. Teams taking part in the finals have now been set as Calgary Hot and Heavy, Calgary Rustlers, Hythe Midgets, Alhambra Midgets, Lethbridge Midgets and representing Zone 2 will be the Westcott Midgets.

Games start at 8:00 a.m. at the Westcott diamond on Saturday with the Westcott Midgets taking on the Calgary Hot/Heavy team. All games will be played at the Westcott Diamond, and the games will go rain or shine. Cancellation will be at the discretion of the Alberta Amateur Softball Association representative attending at the diamond.

Westcott teams in the past have fared well, with the Westcott Juniors of 1985/86 taking home the gold medal in the Junior division. Since then, Westcott teams have won the silver in both peewee and bantam, and this year's team is hoping to add a gold medal to their collection. Playing on this team, are Shawn Irwin, Joe Murphy, Tim Doyle, Cory Shields, Chad Krebs, Brett Israelson, Jason Krebs, Tyson Van Tighem, David Scott, Danny Scott, Irwin Mahon, and Tyler Marshall. Coaches are Darwin Krebs and Cliff Murphy.

The medal round games begin on Sunday, July 12th at 2:45. Come on out and cheer these young men on. These are the top teams in their zones in Alberta. Concession will be available at the diamonds.

Lawn bowling club news

By A. Pringle

When the weather permits, on Monday and Wednesday evenings, there has been Club bowling. Many are newcomers and we welcome them. Orientation clinics are being held under the direction of Elsie Phillips. All beginners are encouraged to attend and learn the rules.

Zone playoffs will be held on July 5 at 1 p.m. to determine the players who will be participating at the Summer Games. On July 11 - Red Deer will be bringing the Challenge Cup. We need 4 or 5 teams for this event.

On July 18 & 19 - the Novice Games will be held. This is an opportunity for new players to compete and we do hope that two teams will be entered.

A successful Bake Sale &

Yard Sale was held June 27. Thanks to all who donated items--it was much appreciated.

We will be hosting a "Champ Nite" when all the donations are sent to Champs who aid Amputees in their rehabilitation.

Come one and all and enjoy an evening of fun. Be involved.

The Villas on College Green offer top quality homes at amazingly affordable costs. And, really, isn't that what every home owner wants? That's what people tell us. And that's why we've built the Villas on College Green. The Villas offer quality homes for maintenance-free life styles. Walking paths, lawn bowling, golf course, tennis, an indoor swimming pool, are just minutes away.

And there's a separate guest house for visitors, a 3,900 sq. ft. community activity building (complete with kitchen facilities, exercise room, cozy fireplace, pool table, and shuffle board), a separate workshop, and an independent on-site medical clinic.

There's even security monitoring while you're away, and RV parking for when you come home!

All this, and prices starting at $83,500.

Shouldn't you find out more about the Villas on College Green? We're located 45 minutes north of Calgary, in Didsbury.

OBITUARIES

Fern Ioda Shantz (nee Tuggle) of Didsbury, Alberta, dearly beloved wife of Raymond, entered into rest peacefully on June 27, 1992 at the Didsbury Health Care Centre at the age of 73 years.

Fern was born on her grandfather Tuggle's homestead west of Didsbury on December 23, 1918. Fern attended Clovermount School and was employed by Jenkins Groceteria for several years.

She married Raymond on March 15, 1944 and from then on assisted her husband in farming and in the operation of the Didsbury Auction Mart. Fern also worked at the Sears catalogue office for many years.

Fern was a member of Zion Evangelical Church, served with the Order of the Royal Purple and was a very dear friend to all those in need.

She was a very brave, compassionate and special lady.

She was an excellent wife, mother, grandmother, and best friend to all who knew her.

Predeceased by her father Emmor, her mother Sarah, her sister Bessie and her brother Burr. She will be sadly missed by her husband Raymond; son, Kerry of Salt Lake City, Utah; daughter and son-in-law, Debbie and John Christensen of Didsbury, and grandchildren that meant everything to her; Destiny, Chris, Cordell and Keenan; her sister Rhonda Marback of Calgary; numerous nieces and nephews, cousins and friends.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday, June 30, 1992 from the Zion Evangelical Church, 2025 - 20 Ave., Didsbury, with Pastor Richard A. Pahl officiating and interment in Didsbury Cemetery, Didsbury.

Pallbearers were: Cliff Tuggle, Merle Dippel, Wes Engel, Doug Marbach, Lou Persinger and Emmor Gasser.

If friends desire, memorial donations maybe made to the Alberta Cancer Foundation, Tom Baker Cancer Centre, 1331 - 29th St. N.W., Calgary, Alberta, T2N 4N2.

Arrangements were entrusted to the Didsbury Funeral Chapel Ltd.

ACKERMANN

On Wednesday, June 24, 1992 Mrs. Delores Jean Ackermann of Didsbury passed away at the age of 48 years.

Delores Ackermann was born August 27, 1944 in Priestville, Saskatchewan.

She is survived by her husband John of Didsbury, three sons: Gordon of Calgary, Bruce and wife Shelly of Peace River, Terrance of Vancouver; two daughters: Lianna Williams of Calgary, Viola Demkin and husband Demyon of Saskatchewan; parents: Noel and Marge Grice of Caledon East, Ontario; one brother: Adrian Grice and wife Ruth of Toronto, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted on Saturday, June 27, 1992 from the Didsbury Funeral Chapel, Didsbury with Dr. Travis Cannaday officiating with interment in Didsbury Cemetery, Didsbury.

Arrangements were in the care of Didsbury Funeral Chapel Ltd. of Didsbury, Alberta.

Traffic Advisory: Highway 2A

Alberta Transportation and Utilities advises travellers on Highway 2A between Olds and Bowden to be alert for roadworking crews on that section beginning in July.

The crews will be busy upgrading Highway 2A and the intersection of Bergen Road and Highway 2A. Drivers should slow down in the construction area and obey all signs, signals and personnel.

The work is scheduled for completion in October and will make this section of highway safer for all travellers. Please keep our work zones safe, too, by driving with extra care and caution.

market less responsive and cost effective. Lastly, the current method of payment has been targeted in both the GATT and Canada-U.S. free trade discussions as a trade distorting subsidy and has caused a number of export difficulties.

Most importantly, farmers currently have no control over how Crow Benefit funds are spent, as they are paid directly to the railways. With all other benefit programs, from GRIP to NISA, farmers are paid directly and are free to spend the money as they see fit. Under the current method of payment, they have no say in the matter.

Nearly 130 meetings were recently held by the federal government across the prairies to discuss grain transportation issues with farmers and stakeholders. The vast majority of Alberta farmers spoke in favour of a pay-the-producer system. The majority of farmers in Saskatchewan support the current method of payment, while Manitoba farmers were split on the issue.

The Alberta Government has spoken in favour of a change in the method of payment. The FREEDOM TO CHOOSE mode, proposed by Alberta Agriculture in 1990, proposed a federal government buyout of their Crow Benefit commitment through registered bonds which would be issued to farmers and redeemable at the end of a 15-year period.

On May 4, the provincial and federal Agriculture Ministers met in Nisku to further discuss transportation issues, specifically the Western Grain Transportation Act. The Ministers agreed to reduce the number of options for the method of payment to three: the current system, a buyout of the Crow through a bond or annuity, or the safety-net approach. The possibility of individual provincial or producer choices being made is also being discussed.

Currently Alberta Agriculture is assessing the feasibility of applying choice to a combination of the status quo and the buyout options prior to the next Agriculture Ministers' meeting in Halifax. I am in favor of a change to a pay-the-producer system, and will continue to lobby my provincial counterparts to change the current system.

I will continue to keep you posted of recent development in this ongoing debate, and will provide you with a full report after the Halifax meeting next month. If you would like more information on this or any other provincial matter, please phone my constituency office at 556-3132 or my office in Edmonton at 422-0141 (collect).

Mount View Health Unit news

When you work up a thirst . . .

What's the best drink on a hot summer day where you have worked up a thirst? "Tall cold ones" may be the first answer and for many of us a "tall cold" drink is a beer or a fancy cocktail like pina colada.

Everyone who is active in hot weather should make sure they drink plenty of the right fluids in the summer. Active people includes almost everyone who spends time outside in hot weather—construction workers, farmers, casual or serious athletes (which includes baseball players); gardeners or the person toiling on outdoor home repairs.

Drinking the right fluids will help you feel your best in hot weather. Excess heat can lead to heavy sweating which can lead to dehydration. Dehydration short circuits the body's "air conditioning system" which could lead to the body temperature rising to dangerously high levels. Limiting the water you drink or ignoring thirst, can lead to heat cramps, heat exhaustion or heat stroke. Even mild dehydration can affect mental function and muscle coordination.

What is the "right" beverage? Water is the beverage of choice as it is cheap, easily carried and is well absorbed by the body. Drink continuously throughout the day. Perhaps a sports bottle with water should be a standard part of the gear you take for work or play.

What is the "right amount" to drink every day? Six to eight cups of fluid is recommended for most people every day. For the days where you are active or sweating heavily, start by drinking an additional 1-2 cups. You may find it helpful to weigh yourself and drink 2 cups for each pound of weight lost.

For athletes involved in continuous activity for more than 3 hours, diluted glucose and electrolyte solutions are recommended all year around. A diluted sports drink will have 2.5% to 10% glucose. You can make your own by diluting regular strength orange juice with equal parts water and (adding) a pinch of salt. Gatorade can be a good choice to replace fluids.

Alcohol, coffee or tea are the worst choices you can make when you are dehydrated. Alcohol and caffeine cause more water loss and alcohol can cause stomach cramping and bloating. If you would like a beer or some other tall cold alcoholic drink, have a glass or two of water first.

Enjoy the party (in moderation) after you are hydrated. Wendy Benson, R.D., is the Community Nutritionist at Mount View Health Unit. She can be reached at 221-8000.

What do blue-green algae, mega-doses of vitamins, bee pollen and chlorophyll have in common? They are all substances sold to the public as magic treatments, which are often sold as cures for everything from AIDS to ulcers. Consumers must be aware of these products because most of their claims have not been scientifically tested. If they were proven to be beneficial, they would be approved as drugs. Besides being very expensive, some of these products may also interfere with the effect of proven treatments offered by physicians and other health care practitioners.

Often, the sales people who promote these miracle potions or pills to the public have not been formally educated in nutrition. The information used to support the value of the products may be biased. These products are often sold through the use of testimonials and literature written by the manufacturer itself.

Even though there are laws that limit the products claims, the benefits may be stated in broad terms. For example, the product may be said to "Boost the immune system, improve memory and/or reduce anxiety." All of these effects are vague and difficult to measure. Eye catching names like "Stress Guard" and promises of quick and dramatic results are also used to grab the consumers attention. But worst of all some of the sales people discount the value of eating a well balanced diet.

One thing that dietitians and health product promoters do agree on is that there are still a lot of unknowns regarding nutrition. The scientific research indicates a diet composed of a variety of foods from all of the four food groups is the best defense against sickness and disease. For more information regarding magic cures and supplements please call Wendy Benson, R.D., at 221-8000. She is the Community Nutritionist at Mount View Health Unit.

5 per cent down program a success

Thousands of Canadians were able to purchase a home sooner because of five per cent downpayments, according to a recent national survey conducted by Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The survey, conducted to measure the initial success of the program, shows that 73% of those surveyed would not have been able to purchase a home when they did without CMHC's First Home Loan Insurance.

"This confirms that the program is assisting financially-wise homebuyers who can carry a mortgage, but who had not been able to accumulate sufficient downpayment to buy a home," said Guy Gagne, CMHC's Director of Underwriting.

These homebuyers are average Canadians with household incomes between $30,000 and $60,000, half of whom had rented for more than five years (18% had rented for more than 10). Mostly young couples in their late twenties, they have demonstrated that they are cautious in assuming mortgage debt. Their debt load (housing debt: 24%, total debt: 33%) is virtually the same as for CMHC clients with higher downpayments.

Virtually everyone mentioned current mortgage rates and CMHC's program as being very important to their purchasing decision, with First Home Loan Insurance being the most influential factor.

More than 26,000 homes have been purchased with First Home Loan Insurance as of June 6th. The survey results suggest that about 19,000 of these homes would not have been sold without this federal program.

This survey is accurate within five per cent, nineteen times out of twenty.

Crime of the week

Crime Stoppers is looking for your help in finding those responsible for the brutal murder of Lucie Turmel of Banff, Alberta.

On Thursday, May 17th, 1990, Lucie was on duty with the cab company "Taxi Taxi" driving her white Ford LTD cab. At 1:40 a.m., she picked up a fare at the "Works" nightclub, located at the Banff Springs Hotel. Her fare consisted of an attractive blonde female, a brunette female and a male. Lucie told her dispatcher that she was taking her fare to 600 Cougar Street, but was never heard from again.

At 1:50 a.m. Lucie's body was found in front of 330 Squirrel Street in Banff. Within 20 minutes after Lucie's body was discovered, the taxi she had been operating was observed being operated by an unidentified male southbound across the Bow River bridge onto Spray Avenue and then onto Mountain Avenue. The man stopped the cab and disappeared on foot into the Valleyview Subdivision.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2,000.00 for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the murder of Lucie Turmel. If you have any information regarding this crime or any unsolved crime call Crime Stoppers at 340-TIPS that's 340-8477 or call toll free at 1-800-661-TIPS. Remember the calls to Crime Stoppers are not traced or recorded and you never have to leave your name. Crime Stoppers serves all of Central Alberta.

forced to do by those who want all the good things at public expense whether taxpayers can afford them or not. This pool venture is just another example of an unworkable system that has driven this country into hopeless debt and division. As a friend recently said, in referring to the whole rotten system, "Robbery, whether done by an individual or a government, is wrong and sometimes I get so disgusted I can hardly sleep."

As for Mrs. Windsor's concern that people shop elsewhere when they take children elsewhere to swim, it is no secret that many people now shop wherever they can find the lowest prices, pool or no pool. Furthermore, a system that continually bullies people into paying for other people's pleasures certainly doesn't inspire loyalty or goodwill. The editor's recounting of an incident where a lady almost slammed a door in someone's face shows the resentment being felt. Mrs. Windsor says, "At least they were given a choice to have their taxes raised." That is not true. The 38% did not choose to have their taxes raised.

the pool feel that, considering the circumstances, Didsbury is extending itself too far, for a nonessential and very expensive facility. Everyday we hear of more cuts in essential services, higher rates and fees, more layoffs resulting in more UI to be subsidized by fewer taxpayers. As for people not spending, even in this once affluent era there are those who don't spend because they haven't got—a completely incomprehensible situation to fat cats who have never known hardship.

Barry Broadfoot's 'Ten Lost Years' should be required reading in the schools and I strongly recommend it to all who did not live through the great depression of The Thirties. Unfortunately, the current situation has a potential for trouble that could make The Dirty Thirties look lovely by comparison. And much of the difference lies in the attitudes and expectations so prevalent now.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Robert H. Ross,
Olds

Princess promotes milk message

By Janice Harrington

Telling people about how good Alberta milk and milk products are for you is the goal of this year's Dairy Princess.

Lisa DeWitt said she wants to use her enthusiasm for the dairy industry to convince other people throughout the province about the goodness of milk.

"I think this is extremely important," said the 23-year-old. "Nowadays, people are so environmentally and nutritionally conscious and they tend to forget that milk is a natural product. It's so healthy and full of calcium."

DeWitt, who was chosen as the Alberta Milk Producers Dairy Princess in January is paid to work full time through the summer to travel around speaking to schools and various groups about the milk industry. She was in Didsbury recently to speak to a 4H group.

"I wanted this job not only because of my own interest in the industry," said DeWitt, who grew up on a mixed farm near Wetaskiwin. "But also because I think we really need to support his industry. Really it's the farmers that I represent."

Alberta Dairy Princesses are chosen yearly to represent the Alberta milk industry. Entrants must have farm experience and go through competition in public speaking to be chosen for the position. The dairy princess works full time though 3 months of the summer touring the province and participating in rodeos, parades, fairs, and dairy shows and talking to school children.

Town donation

The Town of Didsbury made a donation to the Shock Trauma Air Rescue Society in the amount of $4,264. The money comes from the Town's annual Transportation Assistance Grant which they receive from the provincial government. Money from the grant is also given to the hospital for ambulance costs.

County scholarships announced

The Board of Education and the County of Mountain View are pleased to announce the five winners of the County of Mountain View Scholarships. The scholarships are awarded to one student from each of the five high schools in the County of Mountain View based on academic achievement and citizenship. Each of the winners has completed his or her Grade 12 in a County school and is planning on attending post secondary education either next year or in the near future. The successful candidates were: Karen Widish (Didsbury High School), Lori Snyder (Hugh Sutherland, Carstairs), Rebecca Loewen (Sundre Junior Senior High School), Gregory Whitlow (Cremona School) and David Richardson (Olds Junior Senior High School). Each of these students displayed outstanding academic achievement and involvement in a large number of activities both within the school setting and the community at large.

The members of the Board of Education are pleased to recognize the outstanding attributes of these graduates and wish them success in their future endeavors.
